

You're Now Only A Click Away From The Technical Information You Need.

TRC launched our technical website, Drive-Trainer.com, in April. Since then we have implemented a new procedure to make it even easier for our customers to gain access to this tool.

Every remanufactured transmission or differential we ship will now have a QR code attached to it - leading you to www.drive-trainer.com, as seen below. Remember, the site is mobile friendly so you can get the information you need anywhere you need it.

Download a QR scanner from your mobile device's app store to scan the code below:

Drive-Trainer is our customers' solution for technical data, installation tips, and general help regarding any remanufactured transmission or differential purchased from us. Our goal is to give our customers all of the information they need to successfully install and maintain their drive train product. Providing this information will help keep the product within warranty guidelines and prolong the life of the product.

As Drive-Trainer.com grows so will the product knowledge of our current and future customers.
